In the real heart of Europe

In the real heart of Europe

Winterthur is a City of 90,000 inhabitants, situated within the Greater Zurich region. It is the sixth largest city in Switzerland and forms an independent economic, cultural and political centre. Winterthur is an attractive small city which is clearly laid out. It has great variety and offers its population a high quality of life. The city has very good transport connections to the Swiss rail network, the Zurich suburban railway system and the airport. The excellent situation of the residential areas with much green space is notable. One third of the land in the Winterthur city district is built up, a third is woodland and a third is used for agriculture.

A beautiful place to be

A stroll around the largest pedestrian zone in Switzerland is pure pleasure.

In summer it is home to inviting street cafés, while in winter its pubs and bars are the place to meet for a chat.

A colorful mix of boutiques, delis, bookstores and other specialty stores make for great shopping.

And it's always worth taking a look at the facades in the old town, whose slender fronts give the visitor an impression of what life in the city used to be like.

A beautiful place to be

Nice hotels to stay

And a few other things to do ...
